Surfing is using a board to ride on a wave.

Mom says I was born to surf!
Dad jokes I was surfing from birth. I'm a Surfer Girl!

Here I am on my first surfboard.
Dad made sure I wouldn't get hurt.

MC'S

FIRST

SURFING

LESSON!

I stir when the birds chirp. Time to wake up and go! The waves are biggest when the sun first bursts out.

Mom and Dad take turns driving me to surf.

I'm like a bird returning to my nest!

Most kids don't surf. Some use a board in the water. Be alert so you don't get hurt.

My surfboard has swirls of purple on its surface.

Before I surf, I rub the surfboard with wax so I don't slip and get hurt.

First, I push into the water. The waves curl up. The curves of water are cold.

When the waves return, it's cold as it whirls and swirls by you.

This is my turf. I love to surf!

This is what surfing looks like!

The wave curves up. It curls and forms a tunnel.

I don't squirm. I stand on my surfboard. I ride inside the curl!

A burst of water hurls at my surfboard. I'm out of the tunnel.

I am standing as the water
swirls and whirls.

Then, the calm returns.

It's your turn!

You can use your board. Or surf like me!

I have a thirst to surf! That's no surprise because my quirk is I was born to surf!
