Otis and his little brothers huddle around their mom for a story. Mom says the title is "Slime Monster!" It lives in the bramble by Turtle Lake. It has wings like the noble eagle with sharp teeth and claws. Otis is puzzled and rattled!

The brothers are responsible. They are comfortable in the forest. They can handle exploring without Mom. They chuckle a bit as they amble off to explore.

"A slime monster," his brothers giggle. Otis doesn't giggle.

Wilson stumbles to a stop.

"Are you able to smell that? It smells sweet and edible."

Howie wiggles his nose.

Otis trembles just a bit.

"It's coming from Turtle Lake," giggles Howie.

Otis fiddles with the little pebbles
by his paw and mumbles, "What about the slime monster?"

"It isn't real," Wilson says as they amble toward the lake.

They reach the lake. Howie angles his nose and sniffs.

"It's a puzzle. I think it's from that single little cabin," he chuckles.

"Wait here," says Wilson. He and Howie hurdle over the rail and hustle off. Otis trembles.

Otis thinks of riddles while he waits.

He is startled when he hears something. It's a jumble of sounds. Something is visible to him. Did it stumble out from the forest? It looks terrible! He doesn't wobble. Otis bugles to his brothers.

"The slime monster!"

Otis struggles to get away. He's not able to, and the monster tickles him. The monster stifles a giggle.

Then, Otis hears the monster chuckle. Otis realizes the monster is just Wilson covered in maple syrup.

They chuckle, "We found the maple jackpot!"
